MORE THAN 250 OUT IN ALTONA DURING STRIKE

About 250 people in Altona have applied for unemployment benefits because of the power strike, but the end total looks likely to be much higher.

Altona town clerk, Mr. Sid Fell, said that the 250 figure did not include people affected in Altona North.

"Most of the people in Altona North who have been put off during the strike would have applied for benefits at the Newport unemployment office, so we can't really estimate how many people have been affected," he said.

Mr Fell said the effects of the strike could be felt for several more weeks.

"I can well imagine that a lot of factories will not be opening again for quite a while... it could be a number of weeks before things get back to normal," he said.

While the outlook is gloomy Altona's welfare officer, Mrs Lorna Carruthers, said that few people in the area had so far asked for help.

"Generally speaking the three main agencies in Altona — St. Vincent de Paul, the Salvation Army, and the council — have not received many requests for assistance," she said.

"It has increased during the last week, but not to an alarming level," she added.

"I have had only two cases so far where people have come to me for assistance due to the power strike."

Mrs Carruthers said she had checked with real estate agents in the area and they reported she had checked with real estate agents in the area and they reported that people did not seem to be having any trouble paying the rent.

Lieutenant Ian Callender, of the Altona branch of the Salvation Army, said that only a few people had approached the branch for help.

"We've had surprisingly few requests for assistance here; I think most people have gone to the Salvation Army headquarters in the city or to the regional centre at Sunshine for help," he said.

"I've come across a lot of people out of work — their main problem seems to be getting money to pay the rent."

"They can always get food vouchers, but rent is a worry."

Mr Fell said that Altona Council had sent telegrams to the Prime Minister, Mr Fraser and the Premier, Mr Hamer, after a meeting between nine municipalities in the region on Monday.

The meeting moved that the meeting moved that all western councils should make individual and collective approaches to the Prime Minister and the Premier for immediate large scale funds to help with relief work.

It also suggested that councils should arrange immediate conferences with social welfare bodies to co-ordinate relief programmes.

A total of $20,000 was divided amongst the nine councils for immediate relief work.

Three of the hundreds of people who have been helped with food and clothing from the Salvation Army's community centre in Devonshire Road, Sunshine. They are from left: Herminio Navarro, Elino Alcantara with son Eric, 5, and Carlito Casas with daughter Frechie 2.

Rates rise by 7.4 per cent

Altona's municipal rates will rise by 7.4 per cent next year.

The new rate is 11.6 cents in the dollar, compared with 10.8 cents last year.

Last year the rates were increased by 6.13 per cent, and in 1975 they were increased by 17.83 per cent.

The minimum rate will increase from $50 to $55.

The rates were announced at last Tuesday's council meeting and will be formally struck by the council on November 8.

It is expected that rate notices will be sent out in late November.

Cr. Les Crofts, the chairman of the council finance committee, said the council's finances are in good shape.

Cr. Crofts said the council realised its responsibility to keep the rate increase down and had reduced the works programme by 1.4 per cent.

The new works programme lists 32 projects, estimated to cost $1,086,000.

The major projects and their expected costs, are:

- $160,000 towards the purchase of 120 acres of land, formerly the SEC briquette site (The State Government is paying a further $320,000).

- $55,000 to be spent constructing soccer fields in the south-west corner of the former SEC briquette site, in Queens Street.

- $100,000 to be spent on re-surfacing pavements. No new road constructions will take place.

- A further $76,500 will be spent on footpath and kerbing construction in Altona Meadows and Mason Street, Altona East.

- $106,000 to spend on improvements to the foreshore, including the construction of a life-saving patrol tower, the duplication of the boat ramp, the extension of the car park and the sewerage of the toilets.

- $30,000 to continue the beautification programme at Cherry Lake.

- $25,000 for the reclamation of the land to the south of Queen Street, where a new playing ground will be built.

Cr. Crofts said that in determining the estimates the council had provided for an average 8 per cent increase in costs where labor and materials were involved.

The total expenditure from revenue is $5,046,270 with 57.9 per cent of that amount budgeted to come from general rate revenue.

A major expense for the council is the maintenance of recreational facilities. This year the council estimates that ground maintenance will cost $1,500 per working day.

Cr. Crofts said that residents could pay off their rates on an instalment plan, with four quarterly interest-free charges. More information can be obtained by writing to the town clerk, Mr. Sid Fell.

Rose Street people form protest group

Residents of Rose Street, Altona, have formed an "action group" to protest over multi-unit flat developments in their street.

AN AGE SUBURBAN PUBLICATION

The group claims that the flats are largely to blame for:

- Flooding in the lower levels of the street.
- Inadequate water pressure.
- Lack of car-parking space.

According to the residents after heavy rain the extra storm water run-off from the large concrete areas of the flats over-taxes the drainage system and causes houses lower in the street to be flooded out.

A letter to The Star, signed by thirteen Rose Street residents, said:

A stage has been reached where multi-unit flat development in Altona is causing serious problems for all residents because of the deterioration in the standard of amenities which has resulted.

We strongly object to out-of-town flat developers continuing to encroach on the already limited amenities left for this street.

The action group will meet on the footpath at the site of the latest proposed multi-unit development, at 42 Rose Street at 2 pm on Saturday.

School grant

Altona North High school has been given a $500 grant to help meet the cost of its community recreation programme.

This picture tells the story of what went on at the Williamstown Royal Victorian Motor Yacht Club on Sunday.

The club, "Wacko" and Ricki the clown gave one hundred Victorian crippled children a wow of a time.

Each year the club takes crippled children sailing out on the bay.

But Sunday was extra special, so the club produced a birthday cake to mark the "21st. Operation Joy".

Whale of a Jam

Altona Vicar Noel Whale has done it again.

He's made another batch of his now famous grapefruit marmalade.

Two hundred jars will go on sale at St. Eanswythe's parish bazaar next Friday night (October 28).

Vicar Whale will don apron and stand on a dais to sell his locally sought-after grapefruit marmalade, which sold out within half an hour at last year's bazaar. The bazaar will feature all the other old favorites like white elephant stalls, lucky dips, home-made

It starts at 12 noon and finishes about 9 pm. Refreshments are available. Cakes and soft goods made by the Ladies Auxiliary.

Cricketers offer festival help

Williamstown and Footscray District Cricket Association has offered to co-operate in the Williamstown Festival during the Australia Day weekend next year.

In a letter to Williamstown Council, the association notified no grounds would be used for competition play during that weekend.

It would be pleased to assist in the festival by providing a knock-out or single-wicket competition.

The offer will be referred to the carnival director, Ms Stephanie Noel.

• Tennis problem

The council's environment director, Mr. Garnet Price, will report on the feasibility and cost of improved drainage at Spotswood Tennis Club's courts.

The reason courts were regularly under water was that water from Cullen Street and the asphalt basketball court streamed on to the tennis courts because of inadequate drainage, the club wrote.

• Overgrown

North Ward councillors will discuss with Mr. Price a request from Mr. H. J. Dixon, of Irving Street, Newport for rights-of-way behind his house to be cleared.

Mr. Dixon wrote they were hopelessly overgrown, littered with rubbish and badly surfaced. If they were cleared residents could have access to back yards for car parking, he stated.

• Wages claim

Consideration of a log of claims for employees in the council's electricity supply department has been deferred pending a report from the electrical engineer, Mr. Brian Kim-

Shop steward for the Electrical Trades Union, Mr. J. Black, has inquired to the general purposes committee about the claims, the committee reported.

Mr. Kimber was not yet in a position to make a report, it added.

• No Nursery

An application to use part of a houseyard at 27-29 Bradley Street Newport as a retail plant nursery has been rejected.

The environment director, Mr. Garnet Price, reported on the application at the last council meeting.

The land was zoned residential and was essentially residential in character he said.

It was considered the proposed use was not appropriate, he reported, recommending the application be refused.

• Demolition

An order has been issued for demolition of the house at 4 Home Road, Newport, the council was told.

The information came in the health and consumer services department report.

Another order called for extensive repairs to a house at 39 Hope Street, Newport.

• Waterloo Street

The 43 residents of the Waterloo Street, Williamstown area who objected to a proposal to close the top section of the street will be told the plan has been dropped.

Councillors decided this after Cr Peter Lalor successfully moved the decision to close the street had been rescinded.

'Big things' from inspection

It was possible "big things" could come from an inspection of Williamstown by the Victorian Grants Commission, Cr. Ron Dawes told the last Williamstown Council meeting.

Cr. Dawes was commenting on a letter from the commission, stating it proposed a detailed inspection of the city on Monday, November 7.

He said the council should co-operate in every way in arranging the inspection.

The matter was referred to the council's town planning committee to draw up an itinerary for the inspection and prepare a submission to the commission.

The commission's letter asked for a short summary of what the council felt should be inspected.

The tour was aimed at obtaining first-hand knowledge of the needs and disabilities of the area, it said.

The commission was specially interested in:

- The expected traffic problems likely to be associated with access to the West Gate Bridge.
- The Railways area at Newport.
- The Newport Power Station.

It was anticipated the inspection would begin at 11.30 am, the commission wrote.

Uniting Church in big rally

Congregations from the Uniting Church in Williamstown will attend the combined churches rally next Sunday night, instead of their own service.

The only regular evening service in the Williamstown parish — at St. John's — has been abandoned for the day in favor of the rally.

Mr Russell Dancey will preach at the 10 am service at St. John's in Electra Street, Williamstown.

The 9.30 am service at St. Stephens, Melbourne Road, Williamstown will be conducted by the Rev. Chester Hodge.

The Rev. Laurence Slee will preach at Westgate

Church, Wood Street, West Newport at 11 am and Mr Hodge at Hudson Road, Spotswood at 10.45 am.

The service at Stevedore Street, Williamstown at 11 am will be conducted by Mr C. Ferguson.

OPPOSITION TO HOUSING COMM. UNITS

A Williamstown couple are "totally against the building of Housing Commission units of any kind" on Railways land between Cole and Thompson streets, Williamstown.

Mr. and Mrs. I. F. Thomas, of Osbourne Street, told Williamstown Council this in a letter received at its last meeting.

The letter was referred to the council's public works committee and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas will be invited to talks with the committee.

Opposition to commission units was because Mr. and Mrs. Thomas did not want their residential area "lowered in character" the council was told.

They considered the area concerned to be, at present "both an eyesore and a nuisance."

They suggested two uses for the land:

- It be subdivided and offered to Osbourne Street property owners either to purchase or lease.
- Railway Crescent be continued through the property, with land on the southern edge of the extension being subdivided and sold privately, to allow single-story residences to be built.

If the council agreed with either suggestion, Mr. They also asked the and Mrs. Thomas asked council to request the that the opinion of af-Railways to put one of the fected residents be sought. suggestions into effect.

Youth club desperate

For more than 30 years the Williamstown Youth Centre has served local youth by providing fitness and leisure classes.

But now the centre is threatened with closure unless it gets urgent public support.

Assistant secretary, Mr. Graeme Precious, said in the past 18 months, morale among members had fallen to an all-time low.

He said they urgently need volunteer instructors, canteen helpers and committee members.

The centre is open five nights a week, and runs fitness and leisure classes for boys and girls ranging from seven to 18 years.

Annual membership is $3 plus 30 cents each night.

He has appealed to parents, or anyone aged over 18 who can volunteer two hours a week to help revive the centre.

Drop in one night, after 7 pm and have a talk with Graeme. The centre is in Bath Place behind the Williamstown Town Hall.

Six-year dream

By Angela Altair

The 23-ton, 16 metres steel cruising yacht "The Duyfke" is still a few steel frames and a faraway look in Casey Van Berkel's eyes.

But in the next few months she'll start to take shape in his backyard in Kororoit Creek Road, Williamstown.

And six years from now, Dutch-born Casey 32, with his wife and three children plans to sell up everything and sail around the world in her.

The Duyfke is a broad-beamed steel hulled ketch with an overall length of 15.7 metres, 4½ metres across the beam, and a 16-metre mast.

It was specially designed for Casey by a Dutch-born boat designer in Glenhuntly.

It's got a centre cockpit and an eight-berth cabin below deck.

Casey has rehearsed for his six years labor of love by building a couple of small runabouts.

He estimates it will cost him about $60,000 spread over six years. "But if I had to buy it, I reckon it would cost about $120,000," he said.

He moved from Geelong to Williamstown two years ago so he could cut his travelling time — he's a fitter at Swanson Dock — and because he needed a backyard big enough for the job.

He's a shift worker too, so he is able to work on his boat without disturbing the neighbors.

His brother has designed a six-metre gentry, or galleys crane, to lift the massive steel frames to shape the hull.

A permit for the gentry was approved at Williamstown Council's last meeting.

Casey will work from the drawings and where possible build the materials himself.

For example, he's just finished making a $600 hydraulic steel press to shape the steel frames that make up the hull's rib cage.

"But labor," agreed Casey, "is the cheapest cost factor in building a boat."

Why did he choose steel, not cement or wood?

"For safety and reliability. This boat will go anywhere in the world."

"There's boats and there's boats," he

Pam's Column

HI GIRLS,

With summer almost here you should really be looking for some protection. The sun may give your skin a beautiful tan but it can also hurt it. Revlon have an excellent Suncare collection called "Bronze Lustre", each product specially formulated to care for and protect most skin types from harmful sun burning while helping you tan. The "Bronze Lustre" range consists of these nine products.

1. Tanning Cream for normal skin — a rich non-greasy cream, contains special moisturisers to replace moisture lost to the sun; also contains a sun filter to ensure an even bronze tan.

2. Tanning Cream for sensitive skin — contains an added sun filter to protect fair skin from burning, while encouraging a golden tan.

3. Tanning Gelee for normal skin — rich gelee tints skin instantly a light gold, and tans quickly to a rich bronze. Water-repellent.

4. Tanning Gelee for sensitive skin — emollient skin gelee with sunfilter, effectively helps prevent burning and peeling on fair skin. Also water-repellent.

5. After Sun Moisture Lotion — Ultra-rich moisture refreshant that softens skin and helps prevent flaking and peeling.

6. Sun block stick — a total sun block, moisturises while completely blocking out sun's rays.

7. Sun Stick — Colorless, emollient stick shields all sensitive areas, such as nose, lips, ears and eyelids.

8. Sun color cream — pre-tan lotion that gives skin a sunlit color, while encouraging a deep, natural tan.

9. Protective face color cream — An extra moisturising sunscreen formulation to protect the delicate skin on the face from the sun's burning rays. Can even be used on sensitive skin. Lets you tan gently while tinting the face a soft bisque.

Girls, do you fancy a bit of a change on your hair, yet you don't wish to drastically change it? Well Cinta have created a great new Henna Color Highlight Shampoo in four great shades —

Honey Blonde: Gives warm golden highlights to drab blonde and light brown hair.

Auburn: For rich auburn highlights to all shades of brown hair.

Burgundy: Gives warm burgundy highlights to all shades of brown hair.

Camomile Brightener: Freshens faded blonde hair and corrects yellowing of white and grey hair. Camomile does not lighten or color the hair but gives brightness and shine, texture and gloss.

These shampoos can be used over previously Henna colored and tinted hair to freshen enhance color.

Bye.

No objection to pipe line

Altona Council will not raise any objections to the proposed installation of a steel pipe line between Altona and Somerton.

The pipe line is a joint venture between Mobil Oil, Esso and Shell.

Except for crossing Kororoit Creek Road, the pipe line will be in either private or Railway property.

CRICKET

Altona Cricket Club has invited the Altona councillors and officers to a social game of cricket and a barbecue, on November 20.

The council noted the invitation, but not before a few comments were made.

"I'll keep if you like," called out Cr. Bill Sommers.

"I'll score," said a slightly less energetic Cr. Les Crofts.

GRANT NO. 1

Altona mayor, Cr. Doug Grant, has accepted an invitation to be the chief patron of the Altona City Football Club next season.

CAROLS

Altona Council has given permission to have the Al-

It's so relaxing at Helen's Chinkers

Helen Boicos keeps busy at Chinkers.

The well-tried phrase, 'local girl makes good', fits Altona hair-stylist, Helen Boicos, pretty well.

For the past 2½ years she has run her own salon, Chinkers, in The Circle, Altona East.

"Business is great," said Helen, who has lived in the western suburbs all her life.

A t the moment she lives in Newport.

Chinkers is a cosy salon, with a comfortable lounge suite for those who have to wait. Taped music makes for a relaxed atmosphere.

"We even give our customers a cup of coffee," said Helen, as she set to work on another customer's hair-do.

A good job

What makes Chinkers such a successful salon?

"Oh, I don't know, I don't want to give myself a big build-up," she said modestly.

However, her customers did.

"She's got a very good name — she does a good job," said the anonymous woman.

"People come from all over the western suburbs to get their hair done here," said the customer.

Helen agreed with her — she even admitted that she had one customer who travels from Geelong.

"And another thing," interjected the customer again, "you don't have to wait here."

"All we ask is that you book an appointment a few days ahead," said Helen. The phone number at Chinkers is 391 7692.

Both sexes

As at most hair-dressers now, Chinkers caters for both men and women.

Gone, it seems for ever, are the old men's barber shops and women-only salons.

"Men's hair-styling has really changed in the last few years," said Helen.

"Guys are much more conscious of their hair now than they used to, they've really improved."

"Before they wouldn't even walk into a place like this, let alone allow a woman cut their hair — now I get quite a few men coming in here."

Becoming a hairstylist was Helen's ambition from the time she was in high school.

After becoming qualified and working in other salons for 3½ years, she decided to move into business for herself.

"I guess it was a gamble... but it was something I always wanted to do," she said.

"I really enjoy my work," she said simply, although admitting that the competition is tough.

"It's a very competitive field, you've got to stay on the ball. One mistake and you could lose a customer — there are a lot of hair-dressers around."

Baby show

A baby show at the Altona Gate Shopping Centre tomorrow (Thursday) will aid the Harold Blair Aboriginal Children's Project.

Girls and boys will be judged separately, girls at 10.30 am and boys at 11 am. The champion baby will be judged at 12.30 pm and the prince and princess at 12.45 pm.

Inquiries 848 5638.

Reading, writing lessons

People who want to learn reading writing and spelling can get help at the Williamstown Resource Centre, in Mason Street, Newport.

The literacy programme, run by Mrs. Joan Doherty, has just been boosted with an $1100 grant for learning aids and equipment.

Classes are held at the centre on Tuesdays and Thursdays starting 5 pm, but private tuition at home can be arranged.

Classes are free.
For details ring 391 1060 or 397 8081.

Cans, glass at court

Williamstown Council's environment director, Mr. Garnet Price, will report on a request for attention to the Wilkins Street, Newport, netball court.

The Outlets Netball Association told the council the court needed thorough sweeping on Mondays because of broken glass and empty cans left there during the weekend.

It had hazardous holes around the edges and more seats were needed.

Hurry up with your photos

Amateur photographers who wish to enter the Western Region Education Centre's photographic competition should hurry.

Entries close on November 7.

Cash vouchers and equipment will be given to the winning photos, based on the theme, "Life in the western suburbs".

There is no charge for entry, and forms can be picked up at the Western Region Education Centre, 34 Kingsville Street, West Footscray.

The competition is divided into four sections: under 12 years; under 18; open (black and white); open (color).

The competition is one of the activities planned for multi-cultural month and selected photos from the competition will be shown at the WREC centre for one week after judging.

For more information, phone Peter Andrews at the WREC on 314 3011.

Fun course wanted near N'port school

The Williamstown Council will consider setting up a fun and fitness course on a reserve near Newport Primary School.

A request for the course was received at the council's last meeting from the school committee.

Due to a lack of space, it was not considered possible to establish the course in the school grounds, the committee's letter stated.

Such a course at the reserve, in Elizabeth Street, would be useful also to the Sacred Heart School, it said.

There was a great need for the course.

The council asked the environment director, Mr. Garnet Price, to report to its recreation committee on the feasibility and cost of establishing a course.

Field trip for gem club

The Altona Lapidary (gemstone) club will be holding a field trip to Faraday on Sunday, November 6.

The club also plans to hold a street stall in front of the post office in Pier Street, Altona, on Saturday, November 26.

Home-made cakes and soft toys will be amongst the items on sale.

Anyone interested in gemstones is welcome to join the club. For more details, ring Mr. E. Sumbler on 398 1480 or Mr. Smith on 398 2838.

IN MEMORIAM

DAVIES. — Suddenly on 28/10/72. Words are few, Thoughts are deep, Wonderful memories of you Kim, Are ours to keep. Your loving sister, Phyllis, Brother-in-law Ron and Uncle of Colin.

DAVIES, Victor James (Jim). — On October 28th, 1976, at Seymour, you left us to join dad. Softly within the shadows, There came a gentle call, With farewells left unspoken, You quietly left us all. Please God take care of him because I love him so.

Mum.

DOIG, John Francis. — Passed away (suddenly 25/10/72). In loving memory of our dearly loved husband and father of Stuart and Ian, fond father-in-law of Dianne and Alice, dearly loved grandpa of Suzanne, Jennifer and Amiee. In memory of our love for you, Sleep in peace. Loving wife Dorothy, sons Stuart and Ian and families.

O'BRIEN, Thomas. — Treasured memories of my dear husband. Passed away October 24th, 1973. We never part from those we love, No distance can divide. For every day in memory, We walk side by side. Your loving wife, Dulcie.

SELVIDGE, Michael James. — In memory of Dad, Passed away October 30th, 1972. SLEEP IN PEACE. Daughter Myrl, son-in-law Arch, grand children and great grandchildren.

SELVIDGE, Michael James. — In loving memory of my devoted father, who fell asleep October 30th, 1972. A gift in this world so precious and rare, Is the love that a father and daughter share. We shared that love Dad, you and I, From the day I was born. Till the day you died. Loving daughter, Phyllis, son-in-law Norm, loving pop of Maureen (Mrs. Lydeamore), Raelene, Leanne, grandpop, of Lynette and Paula.

SELVIDGE, Michael James. — In memory of my loved dad and pa. Passed away October 30th, 1972. Words are few, Thoughts are deep, Memories of you dad will always keep. Loving daughter Lois, son-in-law Eric and grandson Brett.

TERRITO, Tony. — October 25th, 1974. 3 years ago, God broke my heart To prove he only takes the best. Kim Wilson.

TERRITO, Anthony. — In loving memory of our son Tony who passed away suddenly on the 25/10/74. Tony another year gone by, And still I have not found the answer, Why we had to part so soon, But your smile will keep me going till the day we meet again and we hold hands together again and laugh all the way. — For ever, your loving mum and dad.

ACI in top form

ACI Closures, who finished near the bottom of the A Reserve ladder in the Western Suburbs Table Tennis competition last year, look like being one of the top teams this season.

With Dianne Faust, Max Singleton and Neil Wynn all in top form, they easily beat Altona Youth Club, 9-2, and look set to take over the top spot from Meadows.

All grades are evenly matched and premiership favorites at this stage are hard to find.

Results:
A grade: Maidstone d AGM, 4-1; Lords d Williamstown, 4-1; Albert Park d Spotswood, 5-0; Hampton d Footscray, 3-2.
A reserves: ACI Closures d Altona YC, 9-2; Meadows d Newport 8-3; Hick Timbers d Williamstown Seagulls 8-3.

B grade: Hoechst d Seaweed City 8-3; Honeywell d Altona West 7-4; Maidstone d Altona 6-5.

C (1) grade: Sunshine d Ordinance 7-4; Williamstown d Kealba 7-4; Altona d Yarraville 9-2.

C (2) grade: Spotswood Stars d Kensington Panthers 7-4; North Footscray d Brunswick Rebels 8-3; Footscray d Hick Timbers 10-1.

D (1) grade: Hoechst d Footscray 10-1; Ordinance Rebels d Williamstown Jacksons 10-1; Seddon d ASR, 9-2.

D (2) grade: Kingsville/Yarraville d South Melbourne 7-4; SWAD d AGM, 10-1.

D (3) grade: Altona Hickey club d Spotswood 7-4; Laverton YC d Kingsville/Yarraville 6-5; Ordinance Stars d Gellibrand 6-5.

WILLI BASEBALLERS DOWN NARROWLY

Williamstown baseball team was narrowly defeated in its match against Springvale.

After being down three runs during the early stages Willi drew level with their opponents until Springvale took another three-run lead. Willie fought back but Springvale held on for a 6-5 win.

Best players: L. Flower, N. Pedretti. Hits: S. McKenzie, J. Humphries 2. R. Baker, N. Pedretti, L. Treadwell, G. Parnaby, B. Marr 1.

Williamstown Reserves once again left a lot to be desired as a team. They lost 132 to Springvale. Hits: G. Mioch. Best players: D. Sturrock, E. Poole.

A good allround performance by all players enabled the under 15s to run out comfortable winners against Footscray. Final score 14-4. Best players: P. Blazer (home run), M. Hughes (home run) and C. Green.

Veteran bowler dies

Mr. Harry Higham, the longest-serving member of the Newport Bowling Club, died last week at Western General Hospital.

Mr Higham, 80, first joined the club in 1942 and was still an active member at the time of his death.

He played pennant bowls and had won numerous club trophies and had also toured interstate with the Victorian butchers team.

Mr Higham managed the two Higham butcher shops in Williamstown for 50 years before retiring.

The shops were first established more than 100 years ago.

A well known identity, he had lived in Williamstown all his life.

Mr Higham, of Lenore Crescent, is survived by his wife, Ada, and children, Norm and Les.

A funeral service was held at Weight's Chapel, Williamstown, last Thursday.

Teacher robbed

A Williamstown teacher was robbed of $167 in cash while she was at the Footscray Baths, in Buckley Street, last Monday morning.

Her purse was stolen from among her clothing in the dressing room at the baths, police have been told.

Jennifer Gougan, of Princes Street, Williamstown, told police the theft was between 11 am and noon.

Her clothing was in a bag, but not in a locker, police were told.

Senior Detective Ken Gowan, of Footscray CIB, is heading the investigation.
